

The Andrew Treagus West End Workshop

In 2023, Stage One renamed their West End Workshop to honour the legacy of Andrew Treagus, a distinguished General Manager and Producer with over 40 years of remarkable contributions to the theatre industry.

Andrew Treagus, a guiding force behind Stage One, left an indelible mark on our organisation. His iteration of the 'Stage One Workshop' is the template we still use to train producers on the workshop today. His tireless dedication led to other significant milestones, including the launch of the Bursary Awards, expansion of the workshop, and the establishment of the Start-up Fund. His mentorship touched countless aspiring producers, fostering their growth and igniting their passion for theatre.

Andrew's journey began as a Stage Manager, working diligently behind the scenes. Over the decades, he transitioned to the role of General Manager, and then Executive Producer, overseeing blockbuster shows like Starlight Express, Grease, and Mamma Mia! His ability to seamlessly translate a producer's vision onto the stage made him an invaluable asset.

As we rename our workshop in Andrew's honour, we celebrate not only his professional achievements but also his generosity, kindness, and unwavering commitment to nurturing talent. Andrew Treagus will forever be woven into the fabric of Stage One, inspiring generations of theatre professionals.
